

Colourful, carefree and compact New plants for 2011

Annuals

Begonia x hybrid Gryphon

Gryphon begonia

The superb foliage of Gryphon begonia combines majestic beauty with strength and durability. This showy plant delivers a wow factor, and makes a dramatic garden statement in mixed or solo containers. Its unique tropical appearance is appealing, and home gardeners and designers will appreciate its versatility as both an outdoor shade or indoor lifestyle plant. PanAmerican Seed

Calibrachoa Superbells® Coralberry Punch

Superbells® Coralberry Punch

Covered with cheerful coral flowers with rich burgundy throats, this new member of the Superbells collection of Calibrachoa will quickly become a favourite. The bright flowers are eye-catching in all types of light, and just like other members of the Superbells® group, you can count on Coralberry Punch to bounce back after a rain or a dry spell looking fresh and vigorous. Use this low-growing plant alone in containers or hanging baskets, or group it with taller plants and it will add pizzazz at the base of the container planting. Proven Winners

Mecardonia GoldDust™

GoldDust™ mecardonia

Petite and powerful, GoldDust mecardonia grows just 5-12 cm (2 to 5 in.) tall, and packs a punch with its sulfur yellow blooms from May through October. This feisty annual for full sun has excellent heat tolerance and delights all with a non-stop bloom show. Plant it in containers or in the landscape. It spreads slowly, creating a sunny carpet of colour. Proven Winners

Petunia x hybrid Black Velvet

Black Velvet petunia

Black Velvet is the world's only black petunia, and a perfect fit for premium baskets and containers. Retailers, home gardeners and designers will have fun mixing this unique colour with other plants to add drama to their containers. This combo-friendly petunia partners well with many other sun lovers. Upright and mounded, Black Velvet is early to flower and has a tightly branched habit. Ball FloraPlant

Petunia x hybrid Phantom

Phantom petunia

Phantom petunia shows off a black base colour with a distinctive yellow star pattern. It's the perfect, easy-to-grow petunia companion to Black Velvet at retail and in the garden. Phantom mounds with an upright habit, and works well in mixed container applications or on its own as a standout display. Ball FloraPlant

Petunia x hybrid Pinstripe

Pinstripe petunia

Distinctive Pinstripe petunia adds a stylish and sophisticated look to mixed containers; each dark-purple bloom shows off a creamy white star pattern. Grow and display mounded, upright Pinstripe right along with Black Velvet and Phantom, as they share the same plant habit and easy petunia performance. Ball FloraPlant
